RIDE DESCRIPTION

Although the outline of our day's destination across the bay in Lubec is visible from Eastport, we have some riding to do to get there by bicycle. We retrace our route to Perry, then head west around Cobscook Bay. For riders who want to experience Reversing Falls, a favorite playground for seals, there is an 8-mile round trip ride from Pembroke down Leighton Peninsula to Reversing Falls Park. This natural phenomenon is best viewed 1-2 hours prior to the day's high tide at 10:15 a.m. From Pembroke, the route skirts Denny's Bay. In Whiting, a sharp left turn will put you on the road to Lubec.

TNC SITES OF INTEREST

Cobscook Bay

Defined by its high tides, turbulent waters, and bold coastline, Cobscook Bay is a remarkably rich ecosystem, teeming with wildlife above and below the water. Tucked against the Canadian border in Downeast Maine, its cold, nutrient-laden waters, strong tidal currents, and extensive intertidal habitats create critical breeding and feeding grounds for many marine and shoreline species. Inner coves remain relatively free of ice in winter, attracting the largest congregation of bald eagles in the northeast and a quarter of Maine's wintering black ducks.
